

“Now is the time to awake out of sleep; for now our salvation is nearer than when we first believed.”      Romans 13:11

Dr. J. Frank Pantridge was a cardiologist at Royal Victoria Hospital in Belfast. He knew that people who die from heart attacks often did so within an hour of the attack. So, in 1965, Pantridge developed the first portable defibrillator and had it installed in an ambulance. His invention has helped paramedics around the world to save many lives.

When it comes to spiritual heart trouble, believers are like God’s paramedics. The Lord has stationed us all over the world to provide the medicine of the Gospel urgently and effectively.

We sometimes think there is plenty of time left for us to share the Gospel with someone. But maybe not! We never know when the other person may die, when we ourselves may be called to heaven, or when Jesus will come again in the clouds.

The brevity of life and the imminent return of Jesus should motivate us to share the Gospel whenever we can, to whomever we can. Today, look for an opportunity to share the Gospel with someone in need.
